From: Financial Times Briefing <FT@emailbriefings.ft.com>
To: ehbarak1@gmail.com
CC:
Date: Mon, 6/8/2015 7:29:19 AM
Subject: In today's FT: Erdogan suffers blowin Turkish poll, Cameron warnin...

To view this email as a webpage, click here

Monday June 08 2015

UK HOMEPAGE

Erdogan suffers blow in Turkish poll

Leader's campaign for presidential system thwarted as AKP loosens grip on power

Cameron warning to pro-Brexit ministers

Quit cabinet if you want to campaign against Britain's EU membership in referendum, says PM

Deutsche Bank co-chiefs to stand down

Former UBS chief financial officer Cryan to take over as bank implements new strategy

VIDEO

Vodafone/Liberty — not merging but swapping

Vodafone and Liberty Global have disappointed the market by not merging to form a £100bn global telecoms powerhouse, but merely discussing swapping some assets. Lex's Robert Armstrong and Oliver Ralph discuss what parts of the businesses the two groups might swap.

US HOMEPAGE

Bad timing puts paid to Jain's dream

Turbulent tenure at Deutsche marked by legal rows, scandal and missed targets

Banks' post-crisis legal costs hit $300bn

Survey of 16 big global lenders reveals total bill has increased almost a fifth from previous year

Chinese hack may be mapping US government

Experts believe attackers are building biographic database of US employees

EUROPE HOMEPAGE

Juncker warns Greece on bailout rejection

Commission president says he does not want to renew talks until Athens presents counterproposal

GE nears private equity sale to Canadians

Deal with pension fund may value lending unit assets at $11bn in key plank of divestment plan

New York Times bets on London over Paris

France's inflexible employment laws prompt media group to shift resources

ASIA HOMEPAGE

US struggles for South China Sea strategy

Washington wins allies over maritime dispute but stumbles to gain consensus

Fast Asia Open - Subdued start after US payrolls

Middle East sovereign funds fear decline

After years of ever-increasing allocations, regional managers eye era of lower oil prices

WORLD NEWS

Juncker warns Greece on bailout rejection

Commission president says he does not want to renew talks until Athens presents counterproposal

Russia and Qatar could lose World Cups

Compliance chair Domenico Scala says evidence of bought votes could lead to reappraisal

A snapshot of life in Ukraine's grey zone

A year of war in Donetsk is exerting a terrible cost on residents and the local economy

South Korea working to boost demand

Finance minister says leading world economies not doing enough to counter a slump in global growth

UK falls short of 24,000 nursing staff

Decline in staff from overseas and fall in graduate numbers mean care homes and NHS battle to recruit

COMPANIES NEWS

Delivery Hero reaches $3bn valuation

Berlin-based food ordering company raises $110m from two US-based funds as it prepares for a possible listing

Nestlé hit by storm in a cup of noodles

Swiss group must act fast to limit damage of ban over lead content in India's favourite comfort food

Health tech start-ups woo internet talent

Companies hope to use 'big data' techniques to improve healthcare

Hard slog remains for Deutsche Bank

Incoming chief John Cryan must now decide whether to stick with existing strategy

Week ahead: G7 summit in Germany

Apple's developer conference begins

MARKETS

Japan Q1 GDP growth revised up to 3.9% annualised

US retail sales and jobless in focus

Analysts expect first US rate rise in the third quarter, after data confirms strength of recovery

Chinese growth 'overstated' due to error

Capital Economics claims GDP deflator miscalculated across emerging markets

Mars pans revision of raw materials rules

Group joins oil companies in opposition to financial market shake-up and impact on chocolate and fuel prices

Zombie scheme haunts pensions lifeboat

John Ralfe asks, should the UK pensions regulator take a tougher line?

COMMENT

In praise of Biden's decency

In an age when politicians live in front of the camera, the US vice-president is at heart a salesman

Turks stymie Erdogan's vaulting ambition

President's nemesis was pro-Kurdish coalition with appeal to liberals, leftists and women

Deutsche, stuck in middle of global finance

Jain and Fitschen personified the muddled sense of identity at the heart of the company

Two dismal economic plans for Greece

Without reform the country cannot coexist with northern Europe in a monetary union

Shunning Beijing's AIIB was a mistake

Washington needs to learn from this embarrassing experience, writes Robert Zoellick

MANAGEMENT

Marcelo Claure, Sprint CEO

The entrepreneur and football club owner swapped Miami glitz for a corporate turnround in Kansas City

Why we should love estate agents

Help is needed because even the sanest people become unhinged when buying and selling houses

Sixtysomethings figure out new jobs

Networking and retraining are good, while trying to replicate former careers will fail

Feedback: bugging bosses

Readers joined the debate after Michael Skapinker's column

Manage email | Forward this email

Feedback | Manage portfolio

Subscribe to the FT

Follow the FT

Unsubscribe | My Account | RSS | Privacy Policy | About Us | Help

© THE FINANCIAL TIMES LTD 2015

You have received this email because you have signed up from the NBE preference page.
This email was sent by a company owned by Pearson plc, registered office at 80 Strand, London WC2R 0RL.
Registered in England and Wales with company number 53723.